EXPERIENCE EVOLVE

WELCOME!

This unique conference was created to provide next level education on recent science, new applications, protocols, and business operations, to help grow your regenerative medicine practice. Presenters will share their insight during focused breakout sessions and labs that keep you on top of the latest trends.

The EVOLVE 2020 consists of a wide selection of medical and business topics related to the medical practice and business logistics of regenerative medicine. During breakout sessions, presenters will provide their expertise and draw from attendees' experiences to enhance group learning. Breakout sessions will include insightful round table discussions, providing each attendee a more comprehensive look at what others in the field are experiencing, and solutions they've found.

Attendees can customize their learning by choosing which breakout sessions to attend. To ensure you get the most out of this conference, please visit our team at the registration desk to help you plan out your course schedule.

Sincerely,
The Team at

MEDICAL FACULTY

EVOLVE 2020 Co-Director RICHARD ROSENTHAL, MD

Dr. Rosenthal is a board certified physician in anesthesiology, pain medicine, addiction medicine, interventional pain medicine and certified in regenerative medicine. He is also an examiner for the regenerative medicine certification offered by ASIPP, has published in peer-reviewed medical journals, and has authored multiple book chapters.

GEORGE CHANG CHIEN, DO

Dr. Chang Chien specializes in musculoskeletal medicine and comprehensive pain management. He was trained in physical medicine & rehabilitation at the Rehabilitation Institute of Chicago. After completion of his physiatry training, he completed fellowship training in comprehensive pain medicine at the prestigious Cleveland Clinic Anesthesiology Institute.

AGNES STOGICZA, MD

A board-certified anesthesiologist and pain physician with 15+ years of experience in interventional pain management, Dr. Stogicza completed her pain fellowship at the University of Washington, where she was on faculty from '10 to '17. Currently, she works in chronic interventional pain and anesthesia in Budapest at St Magdolna Private Hospital. She is a member of the World Institute of Pain (WIP) Education Committee, Vice-Chair of the Hungarian Section of WIP and serves as an examiner for the FIPP and CIPS Board Certification.

MATT MURPHY, PhD

Dr. Murphy designs and implements new strategies for the isolation and application of autologous stem cells for spine, orthopedics, and cardiovascular therapies. Dr. Murphy was a senior researcher at Methodist Hospital Research Institute in Houston, Texas, where he focused on the combination of adult stem cells and biomaterials for regenerative medical applications in orthopedics, spine, pancreatic, and soft tissue repair.

ROBERT KINNE, MD

Dr. Kinne is double board certified in physical medicine and rehabilitation and sports medicine. He completed his residency in PM&R. Later, he completed two fellowships; the first in interventional spine and pain management and the second in primary care sports medicine, both with an emphasis on traditional as well as regenerative medicine treatments.

ANNU NAVANI, MD

Dr. Annu Navani is an anesthesiologist in Campbell, California and is affiliated with multiple hospitals in the area, including El Camino Hospital and Good Samaritan Hospital-San Jose. She received her medical degree from Medical College and Hospital Kolkata and has been in practice for more than 20 years.

EXCLUSIVE EVOLVE CONFERENCE PRODUCT PROMOTION

APEX Biologix is a complete resource for regenerative medicine, providing physicians with specialized training, comprehensive business services, and premier supplies to improve their practices and enhance the lives of the patients they treat.

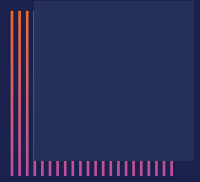

Our revolutionary XCELL PRP kits are precise and easy to use. Using the latest technology, they have been designed to generate a PRP concentration up to 9x baseline and 7.5 billion platelets per 6.5ML dose.

Practices and physicians no longer have to choose between price and quality results. Based on independent lab results, XCELL PRP produces higher concentrations than many other popular and costly systems. XCELL PRP can process either a leukocyte-rich solution for ligaments and tendons or a leukocyte-poor solution for use in joints. Our 60ML kits have the flexibility to produce as little as 1ML of extremely concentrated PRP or up to 8ML of a highly concentrated PRP sample loaded with cytokines, proteins, and growth factors for optimal healing support.

For more information visit us at booth #7 in the main exhibit hall or in our networking lounge.
